

Holy Trinity Peace Village (HTPV), Kuron

Sowing the dream of a “Peace Village in Kuron we named “Holy Trinity” evolved between 1999 – 2004. It began with a demonstration farm to contribute to alleviating food insecurity among the community. As the Italians say; “good kitchen, makes good discipline”. You cannot talk to an empty stomach.

The period from 2005 – 2015 was for engaging and reconciling communities through sports and drama, education in primary and vocational, road and a clinic to cater for community health.

From 2016 to date, HTPV has further evolved into a “Peace Academy” – a space and structure where individuals and groups come to experience the model, learn from and to be transformed by it.

DEVELOPMENT IS PEACE

ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY

Tabani Paride Kenyi – Hubert Walter Award for Reconciliation and Interfaith Cooperation.

For his contribution to reconciliation and interfaith cooperation in Southern Sudan.

Bishop Tabani Paride Kenyi is Bishop Emeritus in the Roman Catholic Diocese of Torit. This Hubert Walter Award for Reconciliation and Interfaith Cooperation is made for his role in reconciliation and also in maintaining a neutral stance in peace building in South Sudan by founding Holy Trinity Peace Village in Kuron in 2005. The Peace Village supports food production and accessible formal education for girls, boys and adults and promotes peaceful co-existence among the neighbouring tribes.

He is co-founder of the New Sudan Council of Churches (NSCC) which played an important role in peace, reconciliation and advocacy during the liberation war in the then Southern Sudan from 1983 to 2005. The NSCC was an ecumenical group and a member of World Council of Churches, which highlights Bishop Paride's positive approach to ecumenism.

He was chairman of the mediation initiative between the Government of South Sudan and COBRA Faction of the South Sudan Democratic Movement/Army. The rebellion began in August 2012 and agreement was reached on 6 January 2014. The conflict had affected over 70,000 people of ethnic Murle people.

His contribution to the achievement of peace and reconciliation in South Sudan between people of different backgrounds and religions is an outstanding example for others to emulate.
